flabbergasted. There was a lady who referred to some Internal Revenue agent as having big hair, and that she ought to be slinging hash in a roadside diner in south Texas, rather than serving in this capacity. And that statement was made because of hounding and harassing that had taken place. After this statement was made, the agents came down with a vengeance. Fortunately, the judiciary interceded and brought that kind of activity to a halt. I believe in truth in labeling. I know that by the adoption of this amendment we will not change the name of that organization, that operation, that heavy-handed, oppressive clique. However, in the way that some of my colleagues like to do, this will send a message. What is the message that is being sent? The message being sent is that the representatives of the people of Nebraska, by a majority vote, are of a mind to place on that agency the name which it ought to have. If this amendment is adopted will it affect the bill? I doubt it. But, if it did, I would show how reasonable I am by maybe putting it in just one spot, instead of when we're naming the code that we're amending, or maybe I would just add it as surplusage, not amend Senator Wickersham's text, but just offer it as one of those additions which would probably be written down as a new section. SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator, would you respond?

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Wickersham, if I'm going to push through with this, push forward, would you rather that I not change the textual material in your bill and just say "add the following"? And that would leave everything in your bill as it is, the references would be internal, and then I would just put mine, that we in Nebraska feel that agency ought to be referred to as the Infernal Revenue Service, if you had to make a choice?

SENATOR WICKERSHAM: (Laughter) Senator, I'm occasionally confronted by choices, such as you're describing to me. Let me tell you how I would choose. If you amend the bill to delete the word "Internal" and to substitute the word "Infernal" in every place in the text of the bill as it now appears, we would render inoperative over 100 sections in Nebraska law, because
